Subject: FW: [IWG Chairs] NCA4 Vol. II Release Today

Most everyone probably knew about the release of this report on Friday, but I waited till today to send out this alert in case you just wanted to enjoy the holiday undisturbed.

This is a milestone in GCRP history and conveys an urgent message to the nation. And the science is the message and that is what should be the focus of discussion – not the day it was released which is a distraction.

The work our WG is doing continues to be important and relevant for protecting public health and welfare and the environment. Thank you for continuing your efforts.

Dear Co-Chairs,

As you likely know, NCA Volume II will be released at 2PM EST today.

NOAA released a media advisory on Wednesday, with all the information here: <https://www.noaa.gov/media-advisory/experts-to-discuss-new-federal-climate-change-assessment-report-for-us>

Given your role in the development of this report, I wanted to make sure you all had this information.

Best,
Amanda
